A pep assembly overflowing with a feeling of school spirit, a heart-breaking defeat or triumphant Pilot victory, a suspense-filled coronation, the silence during Iowa Tests, laughter at a club initiation . . . these are some of the many moods that make up life at Murray.

With each new day came more experiences, some remembered only a few hours, and others that will live on in our memories for the rest of our lives. And so, reflected in the pages of the Pilot are the moods of Murray.

The Pilot, expressing the sincere appreciation and humble gratitude of the student body, wishes to dedicate Murray High School's 1965 yearbook to Mr. Leslie E. Tripp, who has given so much of himself and his time to the welfare of the school.

Members of Mr. Lloyd Marengo's senior physics class Rick Givans, Barb Comstock and Dave Hagen earnestly observe the volumetric experiment their fellow classmate Mark Halvorson is performing. This is just another example of how students learn by doing.

Tenth grade biology students Linda Gilbert and Nancy Whitcomb study the leaf collections of previous years, while their fellow classmate Lyning Peterson examines some micro-organisms under the microscope. Mr. Ritter's biology classes also do dissecting later in the year.

Informal Atmosphere Aids In Learning Experience

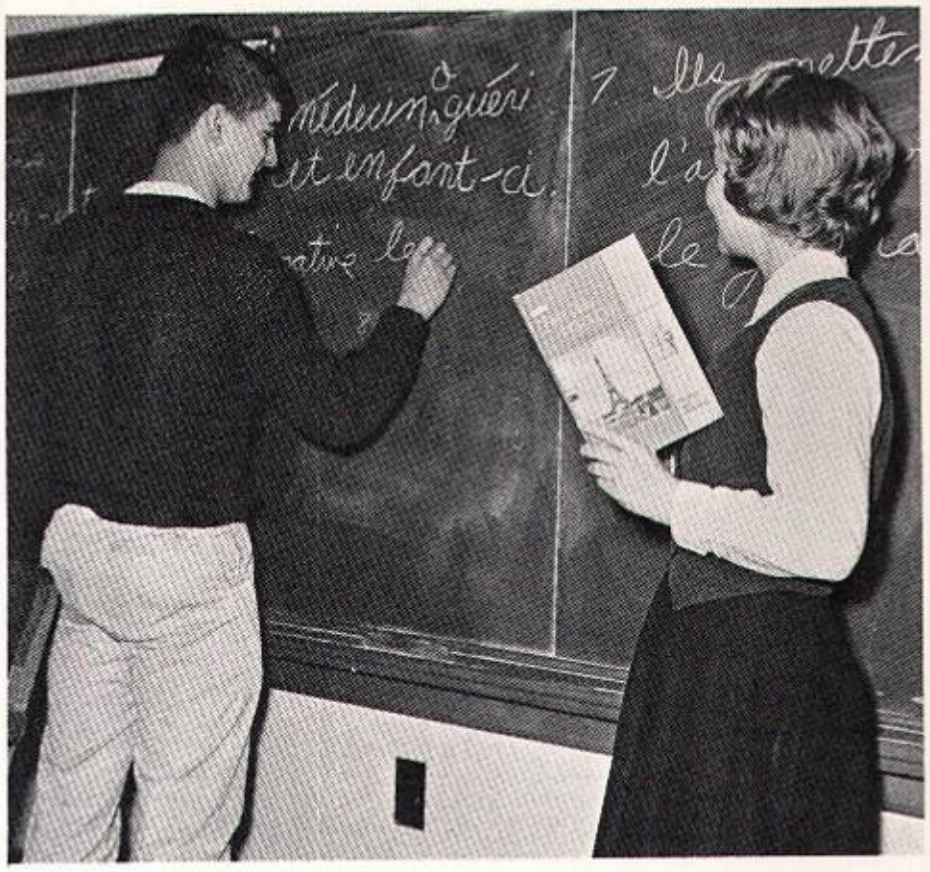
Students Acquire Knowledge And Increase Interests

Mr. Vernon Peterson's health classes are studying the human torso. Max Reiter, John Rottach and Nathan Thompson are showing their classmates where the organs are located. The health classes were formed to help students realize how important their health is to themselves, and to those around them. The classes are held every three weeks, alternating with swimming and physical education.

Interior decorating students Candy Brobakken, Sue Razskazoff, and Jane Bergeson display some examples of the intricate and unique house plans that they worked on during the school year. They learned the use of color in design and many other decorating technics. Their instructor, Mrs. Barbara Arola, is new to Murray

Library staff worker Carol Christianson is checking a book out for senior Sue Christopherson. The staff is made up of students who have completed the LC prep course and passed the test to become Library Club members.



Bill Dow and Marilyn Cross are at the board working out an exercise in French class. The course, taught by Mr. Bill Addison, was offered for the first time at Murray.

By Classroom Participation In A School Atmosphere

Seniors Sharon Ross, LaVonne Schultz and Laurie Schmugge are doing mimeographing for Miss Helseth in secretarial practice. The students learn the use of the mimeograph and other office equipment for future application.

Seniors Claire Milham and Kerry Stein are reading Macbeth and Hamlet. These two readings are required for all senior English classes. The program helps to get a better understanding of English literature and its ideas.

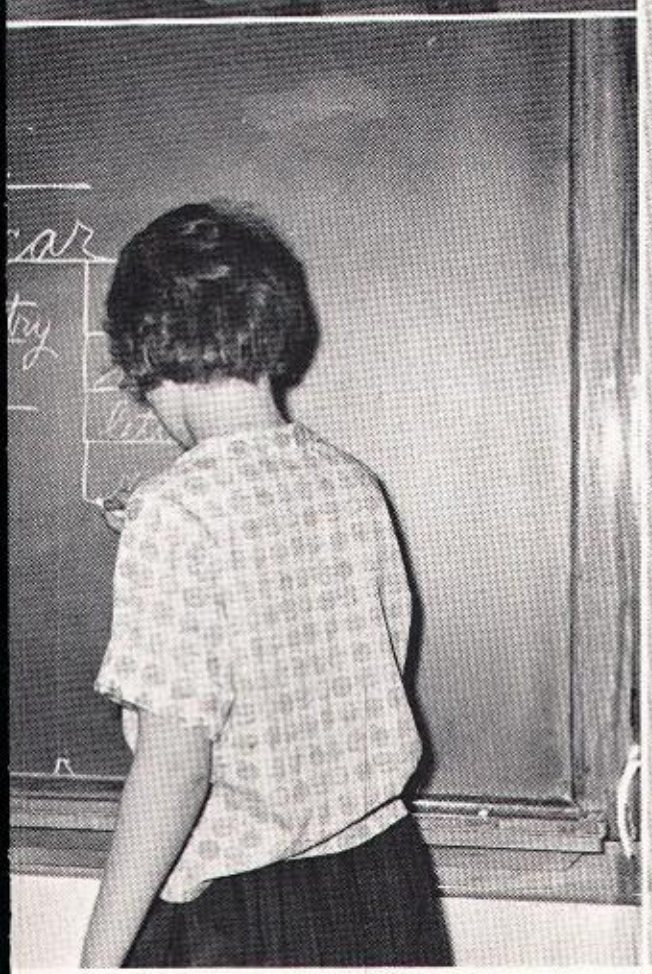
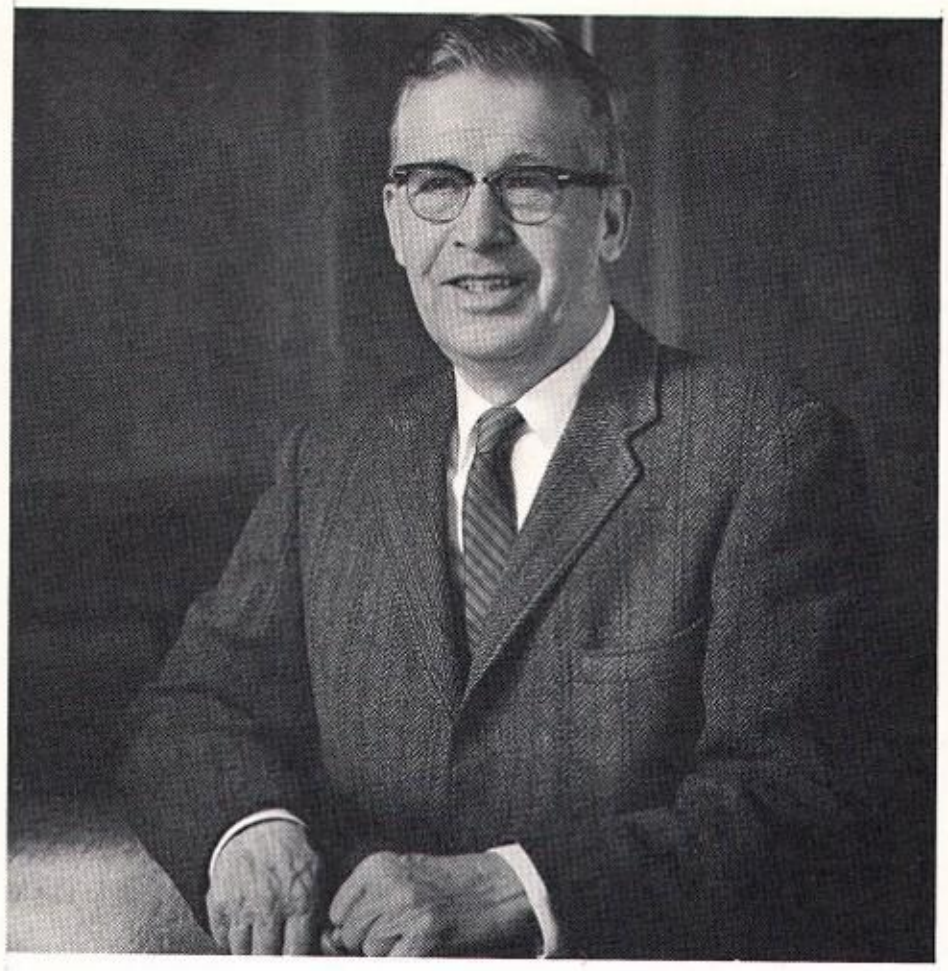
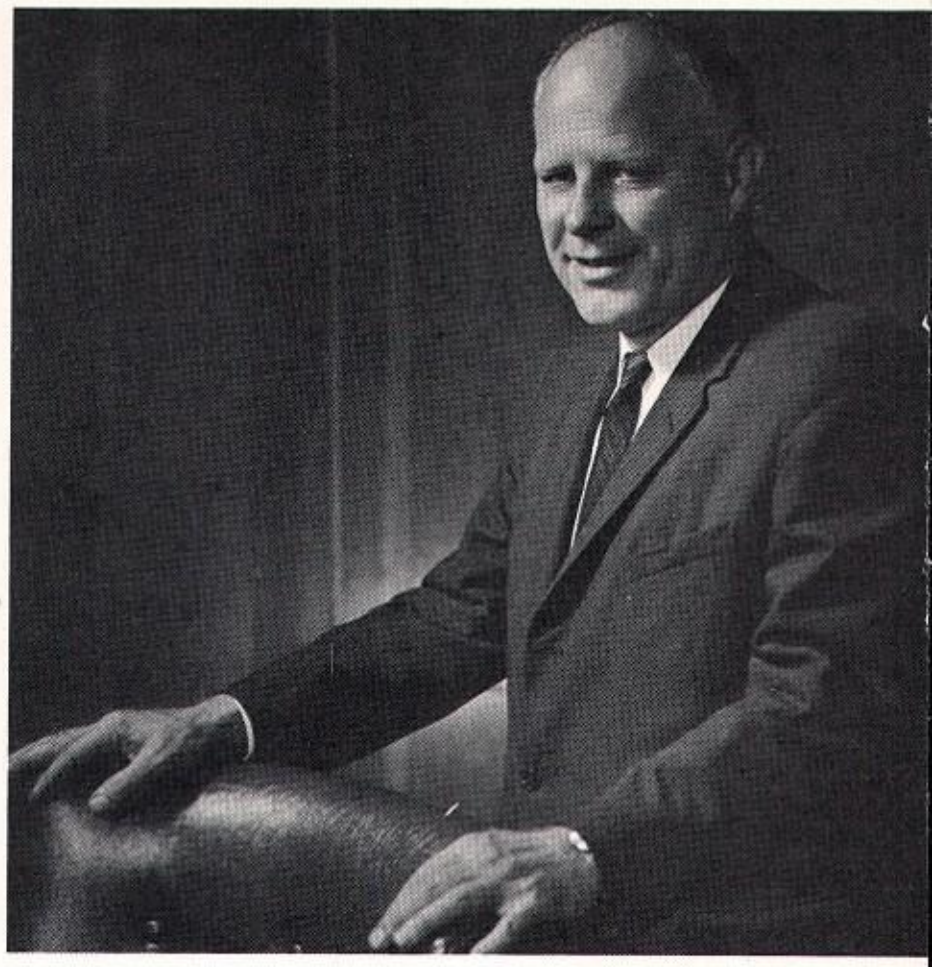
SYMPTOMS





Mr. Leslie Tripp has faithfully served Murray as principal for 11 years. He is responsible for coordinating school activities and for keeping a good atmosphere between faculty and students.



Mr. George Kirkeby is Murray's new assistant principal. Previously, he was the assistant principal at Washington High for nine years. He attended the University of Minnesota and Luther College.

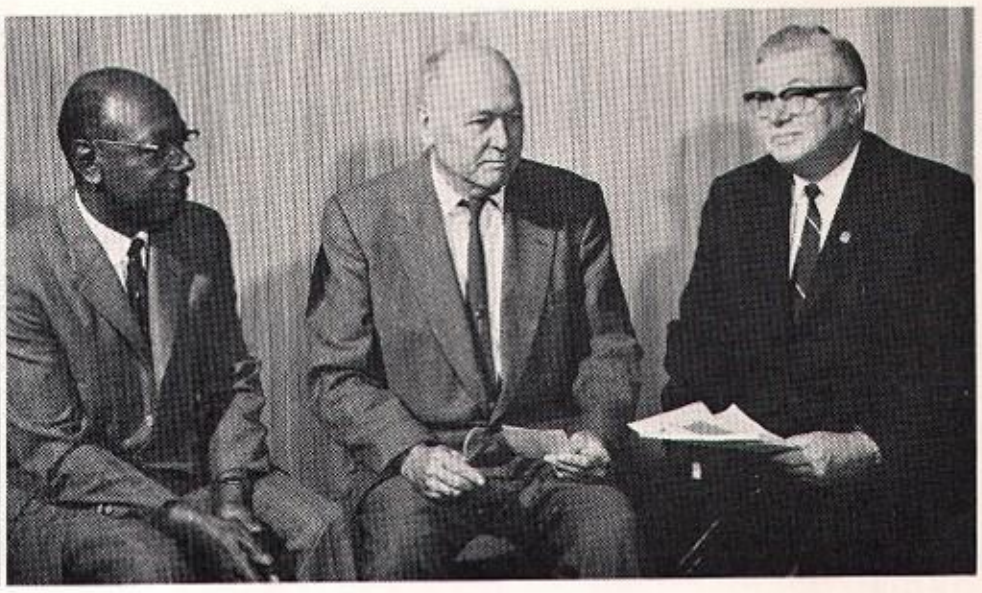
Mrs. Betsy Barnes is the junior clerk at Murray. Mrs. Doris Olds is Murray's social worker and visiting teacher. Mr. Leon King, the school librarian, is also the advisor of Library Club. The school nurse is Mrs. Viola Peterson. In charge of keeping the office organized is senior clerk Mrs. Ruth Trost.

Constituting Murray's able guidance staff are Mr. James Palmer, Miss Gladys Rose, and new to Murray, Mr. Jay Ettinger, who spends time at Washington High.

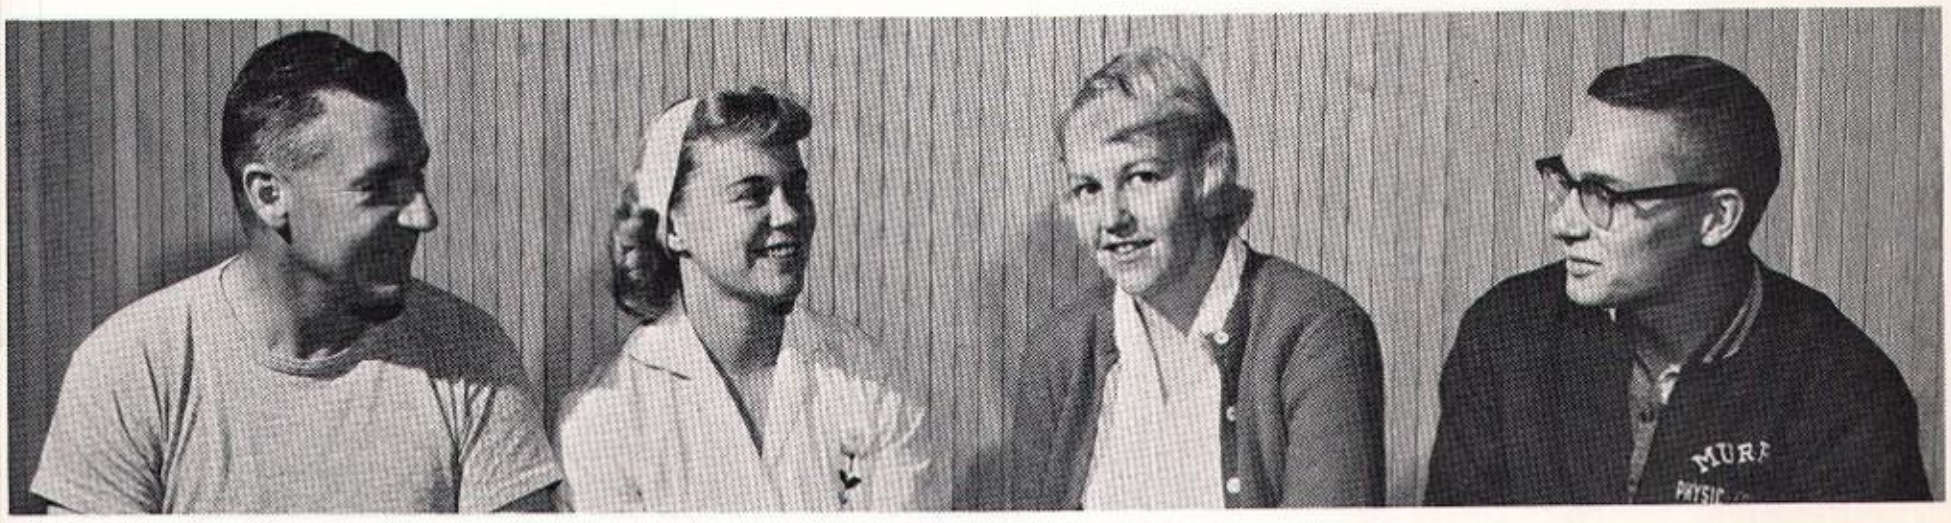
Mr. James Palmer, guidance counselor, helps to rearrange and smooth out conflicting schedules of seventh graders Julie Bauman and Ann McPherson.

Curiosity, Patience Are Best Aids To Gain Wisdom

Mr. Ronald Causton teaches history. Miss Virginia Fertig teaches American and world history. Mr. Gerald Line, A.F.S. Committee advisor, also teaches history.

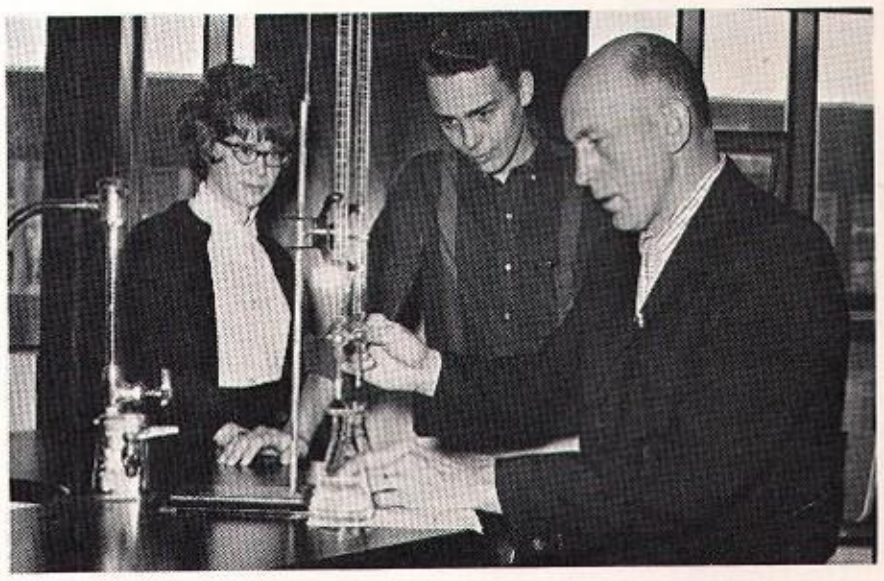


Mr. Charles Rogers teaches American history and social studies. Mr. Bernard Quinn teaches social studies. Basketball coach Mr. George Rose, teaches social studies.



Mr. Vernon Peterson, the gymnastic coach, teaches boy's physical education classes. Both Mrs. Janet Shields and Miss Patricia Lightbourn teach all the girl's physical education, swimming and health classes. Mr. Edward Porthan is a teacher of boy's physical education classes and also coaches Murray's swimming team.

Mr. Lloyd Marengo teaches physics. Mr. Robert Ritter teaches biology. Mr. John Pearson teaches general science. Mr. Reno Rossini, not shown, teaches chemistry.



Chemistry teacher Mr. Reno Rossini is demonstrating to seniors Carol Christianson and Mike Lipke a titration experiment concerning volume.

With Wisdom, Humor, Patience, Teachers Guide Us

Mrs. Mary Perkins teaches English. Mr. Gerald Skelly teaches English, speech and is advisor to Dramatic Club. Miss Florence Vest teaches English.

Forward Leading Us To Success And Knowledge

Mrs. Barbara Arola teaches home economics. Mr. Peter Merila teaches basic business, typing and bookkeeping. Miss Valborg Helseth teaches shorthand, secretarial practice, clerical practice, typing and mathematics. Mr. Robert Korpi teaches drafting and woodshop.

Mr. Sorenson is busy guiding the students in his art classes to use their imagination to create objects that have artistic value.

Mr. Pose, Mr. Skelly and Mr. Ashworth eat in the unfinished teachers' room. When completed it will have a kitchen and studying facilities.

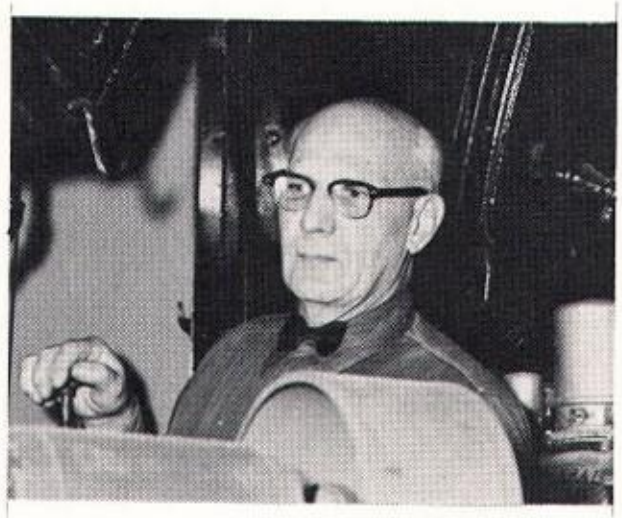
Mr. Alex Heron teaches geo., social studies, and band. He is the athletic director. Miss Marjorie Rusch teaches gen. music, directs the choir and octette. Mr. Frederick Bunce teaches art and Eng. Mr. Eugene Pose teaches ind. arts and metal shop. Mr. Daniel Sorenson (not shown) teaches art.

Cooks, Janitors Create Pleasant Atmosphere

The ladies who are responsible for providing students and faculty with hot lunches are Mrs. Leona Newquist, in charge of milk and ice cream; Mrs. Winifred O'Dwyre, head cook; Mrs. Ethel Agnew, baker; Mrs. Audrey Greschner, salad maker, and Mrs. Helen Petersen who serves the prepared food.

Pictured are four men who create and maintain a clean, pleasant atmosphere around Murray. They are George Sutherlin Sr., Martin Gilsrud, Vetalis Soderman and Leroy Starner. The janitors, as well as the students and faculty, have appreciated the "new face" Murray has received. The new paint has added much to our school.

The new assistant engineer, David Nims, keeps the new building open at night for students use.

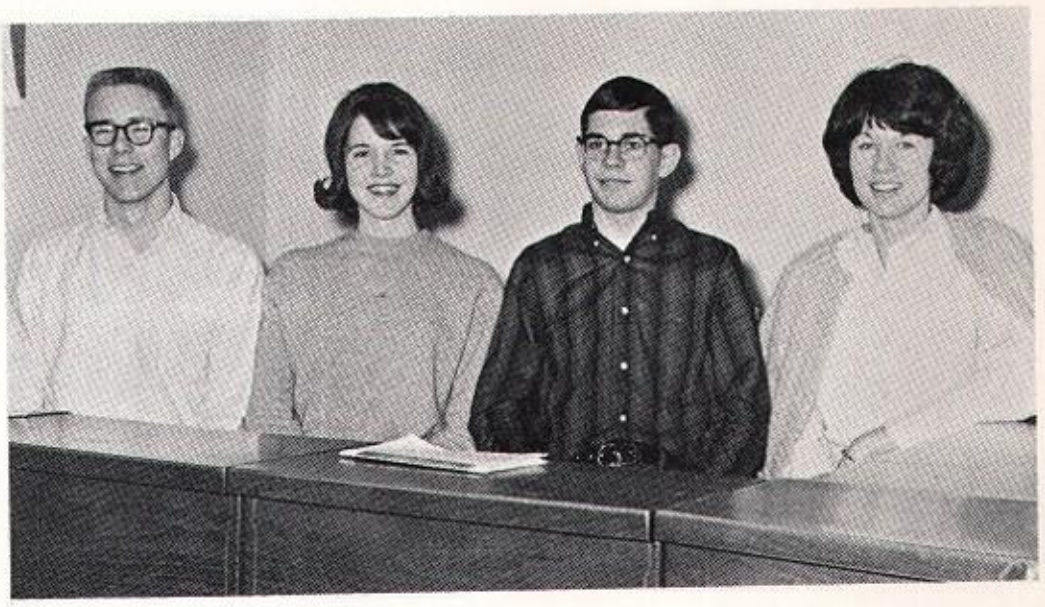


Mr. Marvin House is the chief engineer at Murray. He is head custodian and a friend to all.

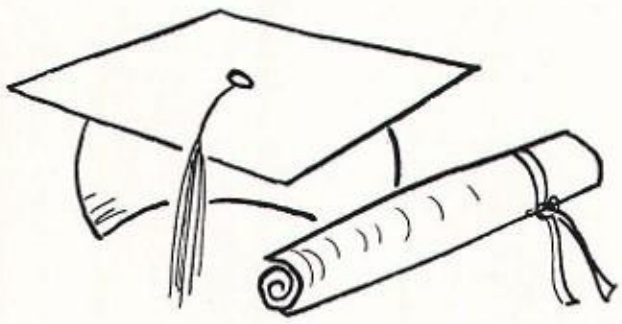
Mrs. Marjorie Bundy helps keep our school clean. She has been with us for three years.

Doing an excellent job of advising Murray's senior class of 1965 are Mr. Edward Datko and Mr. Gerald Line. Among their major responsibilities were planning and chaperoning the class trip, seeing that all graduation committees function properly and presiding over the monthly class meetings.

Senior officers Steve Johnson, President; Kathi artwick, Vice-President; Marcia Briggs, Secre-ary; and Jim Wolf, Treasurer, are discussing lans for graduation. These officers worked ith the advisors in a fine spirit of harmony and o-operation throughout the entire year.



eniors Use Final Year As Stepping Stone To Future



Graduation Day is truly an important day for ll seniors. Everything must be perfect, including ne gowns. This year the class chose pale gold owns for the girls and blue-black ones for the oys. Here Kathy Weber fits Pat Nelson for a own while Kathleen Rudie tries one on for size.

Making one of the monthly payments towards the senior class trip is Mary Hokanson. Susan Schroeder collects the money, while Lynn Elvester keeps an accurate record. The trip to New York City, by train, was scheduled for May 6-10. With 41 students participating, a day at the World's Fair was planned.

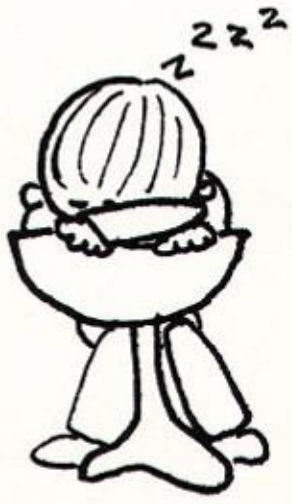
Sadly, but with great anticipation of the future, the senior class of 1965 leaves Murray High. After graduation we are on our own to fullfill our life's ambition and goal. We leave with memories of our treasured high school years, times that will be remembered forever. Our past achievements can not be our ultimate goal. We must look to the future for lasting accomplishment and satisfaction. Looking back we recall: the first exciting days at Murray - the students who we admired and respected - our freshman Sno' Foolin' prince and princess - attending our sports events and being loyal to our team whether we lost or won - the arrival of new sophomores from Como Jr. High - the organizing of our class by electing officers and getting advisors - the thrill of getting the new addition including pool and new labs - our special Blarney Ball King and Queen - purchasing our class rings - the successful Soph. class party. We will remember also: lengthy nights of studying to pull increasingly important grades up - the fun we had at the Jr. class car wash - the comedy of the Sadie Hawkin's dance. The successful prom "Isle of Paradise" - and hours of enjoyable work will be remembered by many. Our final year arrived at last. With it came respect and admiration from the underclassmen. With it also came an increasing responsibility to fellow classmates, ourselves, and all Murray High. Our collection of cherished memories includes Homecoming and exciting campaigning days - the humorous class play "Harvey" - the fascinating "Sound of Music" - the class trip to New York - Sno' Foolin' folly - our final prom - and the big day, graduation!



We Remember . . .

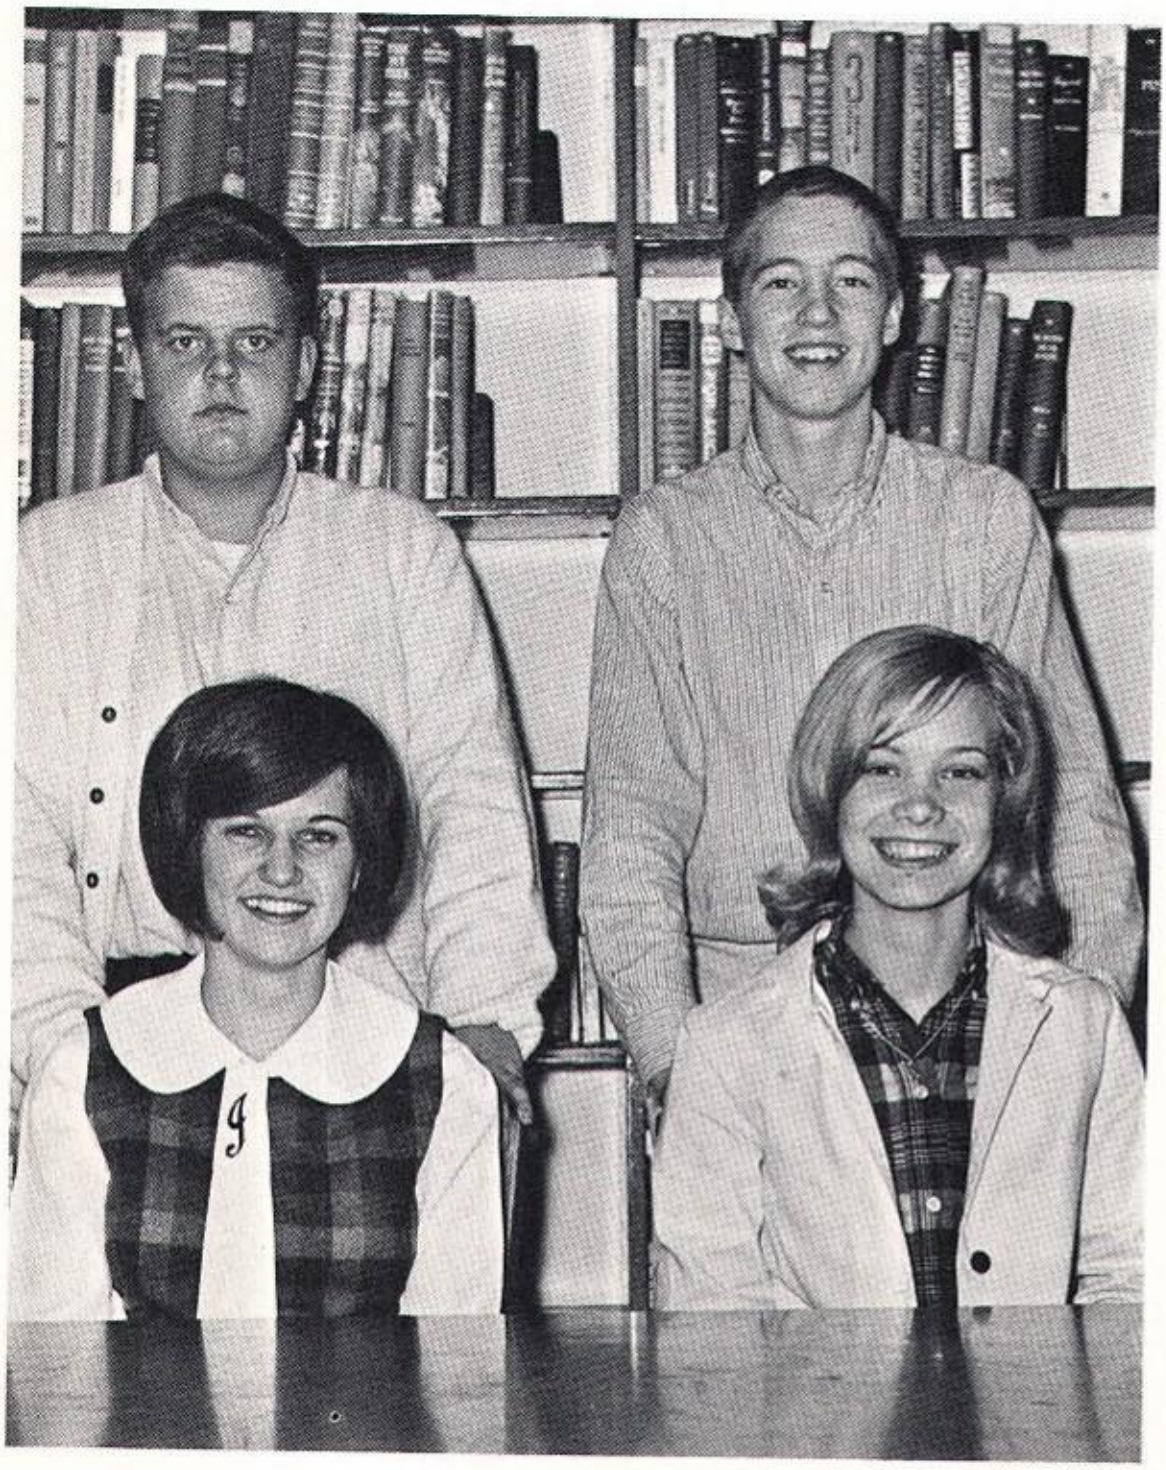
New Officers, Classes Make Wonderful Junior Yea



Posing for a formal picture are junior class officers Eric Bergerud, president; Andy Rogness, vice-president; Judy Sontag, treasurer; and Bonnie Hassinger, secretary.

The duties of these officers are great since the junior class is one of the busiest in school. Juniors put on the Sadie Hawkins dance in November and sponsor many other projects in order to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring.

Early in the year the class decides whether or not it wants to go on a senior class trip. The officers' job is to narrow the choice down to a few cities and later on to decide the cost, the date, and other important details of the trip with the help of members of the senior class trip committee.

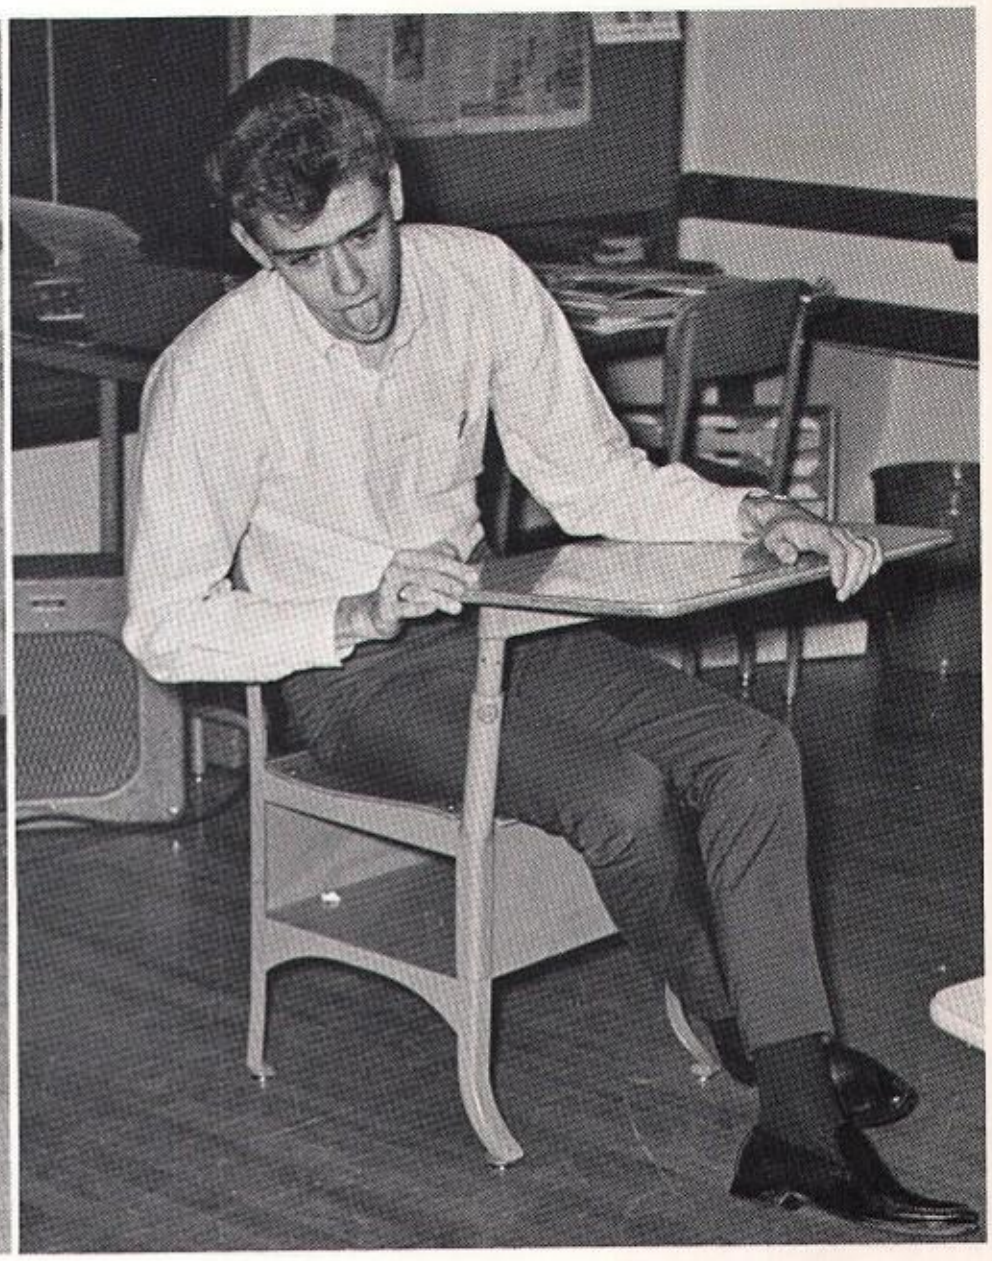
As Students Climb Ladder To Height Of School Life



Giving their pantomines in first year speech are juniors Judy Sontag and Paul Schubring.

Besides presenting pantomines, the class has given monologues, dialogues, speeches, both prepared and impromptu, and play reports throughout the year. Many students go on to take second year speech and join dramatic club.

Then in the fall each member is put on a committee that has a special duty to do before or after school or during a study hour. Some of these are shelf readers, who see that the books are on the right shelves, while others mend books, catalog, or cover new books. All these jobs prepare them for the library staff in their senior year.

As Juniors Look Toward Their Last Year At Murray

The members of the triple trio, Nancy Uram, Chris Jenson, Patty Thurow, Kathy Kavanaugh, Kathy Lauerer, Barb Souther, Pat McMoy, Liz Hebbel, and Pam Roan sing at the March of Toys assembly. During the year the group performed at the Homecoming, March of Toys, Sno' Foolin' assemblies. The group is not sponsored by any school organization but the girls just decided to get together and sing. They buy all their music and practice on their own just for the fun of getting together and singing.

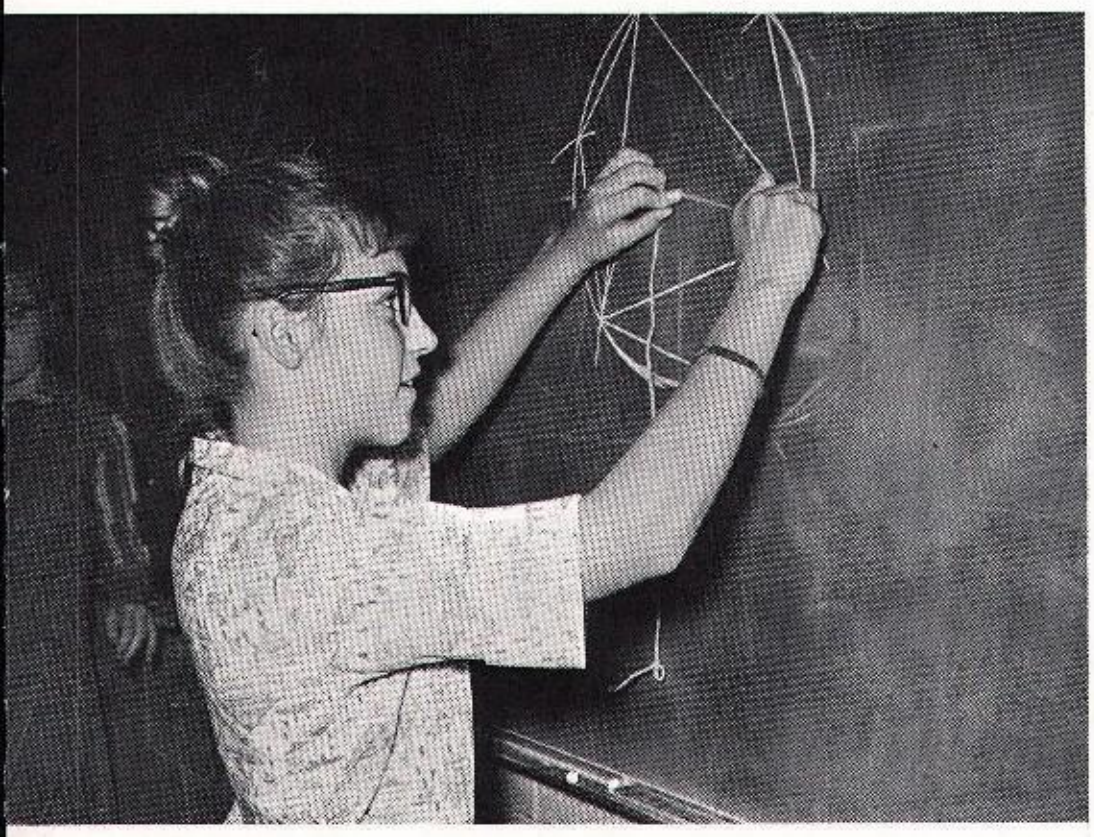
Look Forward To The Coming Wonderful Years



Diann Halvorson is constructing a triangle within a circle for her eighth grade math class taught by Mrs. Lucille Smith.

This year the class is learning to add and subtract signed numbers and construct geometric figures by the new math. They are studying many of the same things in the old math such as fractions. Real and rational numbers are being taught by different processes. This year the main concentration will be on the all important formulas.

Home Economics, taught by Mrs. Barbara Arola, is a required subject for all seventh and eighth grade girls. Pictured here are Cindy Munson, Ann Condie, Kathy Sanoden, Sue Holter, and Ann McPherson sampling the food that they have just prepared.

The first year in Home Ec. is based almost entirely around cooking and nutrition. The students start with the simple, easy to make foods, and gradually work up to preparing a whole meal. Along with preparing a meal, the proper procedure of washing dishes and setting tables is also emphasized.

South Sea "Isle Of Paradise" Is 1964 Jr.-Sr. Prom

A little grass shack, palm trees and baby orchids entwined in fish net truly made the North Star Ballroom an "Isle of Paradise." The decoration committee, headed by Marcia Briggs, worked many long hours to make the 1964 prom a south sea island of enchantment.

Other committees for the event were: refreshments, chairman Jeanne Scherbert; datebooks and invitations, chairmen Terry Cutkomp and Dick Abraham; chaperons, chairman Kathy Hartwick; orchestra, chairman Paul Fardig; and publicity, chairman Dale Swanson.

Music for the evening was supplied by Rich Klausin and His Five Piece Band.

Honored guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tripp, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Simmelink and the Murray faculty.

Prom co-chairmen JoAnn Hayenga and Greg Carlson spent the evening of May 8 enjoying the results of their many weeks of planning. They appointed the committee chairmen and worked with them to make the prom a complete success.

Chosen from the sophomore class to serve refreshments at the prom were hostesses Margaret DeWitt, Patti Shoffner, Elizabeth Hebbel, and Kathy Lauerer.

Quill And Scroll Rewards Outstanding Journalists

Twice each year students who have shown outstanding journalistic ability are rewarded by being accepted into Quill and Scroll.

In order to become a Quill and Scroll member, a student must be in the upper one third of his graduating class, have shown outstanding journalistic work, have been recommended by Mr. John Lape, faculty advisor to the club, and been approved by the Quill and Scroll office in Iowa City.

In the spring of 1964, nine journalism students were accepted into Quill and Scroll. From these nine students four officers were elected to serve during the 1964-65 school year. In October, there was another initiation and eleven more students were accepted.

Each member of Quill and Scroll receives a membership card, showing that he has been accepted, a gold membership pin, which is a symbol of his achievement, and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine which is published four times during the school year.

Quill and Scroll secretary Kathy Stech, vice-president Myrna Grunwald and treasurer Barbara Engle stand by as president Nancy Sage lights the candles at the Quill and Scroll initiation.

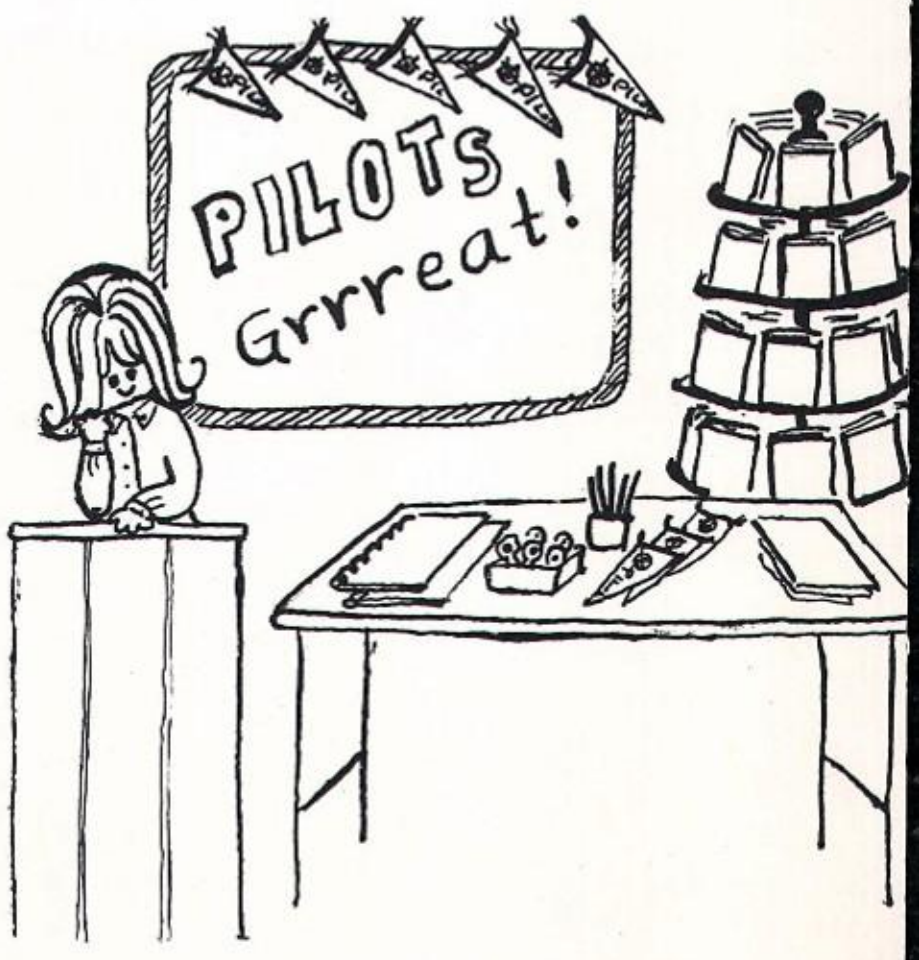
Student Council Promotes Interest In School Affairs

Under the direction of Mr. George Rose, t Student Council is made up of two represent tives from each homeroom and four elect officers. This year, besides its usual month meetings, Murray had the added responsibil of heading the All-city Student Council.

During the year, the Council sponsors ma events. The March of Toys, the United Fu Drive and Sno'-Foolin' are all Student Coun projects. Murray's bookstore is also under t direction of the Student Council.

The junior high has its own Student Coun organization. This teaches the younger stude the way in which a student governing body run. This year the officers were president Harl Pearson, vice-president John Novak, secreta Margie Lembke and treasurer Jonell Nielson.

Santa Claus made a personal visit to Murr during the Christmas season to collect the to that students had brought for needy childr throughout the city. The March of Toys is j one of the annual events sponsored by the S dent Council during the year.



Putting the finishing touches on the school's Christmas tree are student council officers, treasurer Andy Rogness, secretary Bonnie Hassinger, president JoAnn Hayenga and vice-president John Palarine.

Efficiency, Service Are Library Club Trademarks

The card catalogue, fine slips and mending tape become familiar objects to members of Murray's oldest organization, the Library Club. It has been in existence for 37 years. Members serve on committees during their sophomore and junior years. Senior members serve one hour per day in the library under the direction of club advisor Mr. Leon King.

During the year the Library Club holds various social events, among them being the Book Week Tea held in the fall and the annual Pin Banquet in the spring.

1964 Homecoming Queen
Gretchen Halvorson

Colored construction paper, marks-a-lots, ue, a lot of glitter, excitement and victory lped to make the week of October 5 a eat success.

After three days of campaigning, the week s climaxed by the coronation assembly as etchen Halvorson was crowned the new een by Jayne Hanson, Murray's 1963 mecoming queen.

"Stall the Injuns" was the Homecoming gan, which spelled victory for the Pilots as y defeated the Humbolt Indians 13-7 at ntral stadium Friday afternoon.

Friday night the GAA sponsored our home- ming dance from 8 to 11.

Besides sponsoring the Homecoming dance, e GAA sportheads and officers sold Home- ming buttons, balloons and pom-poms.

xcitement Builds As Homecoming Draws To Close

Below, students are using their imaginations to make sters and slogans which they hope will gain new pporters for their candidate.

Claire Milham and Hugh Coffman show that campaigning is not all work as they take time out from the confusion of posters, signs and slogans to relax and have some fun.

All of the members of the year book staff worked together to produce the 1965 Pilot. They strived to put out a book that would be a record of the ideals of the school and would serve as a memory book to all Murrayites. It is a record also of all events and happenings that make high school life memorable to us as students and adults.

Perhaps the hardest working of all staff members were the co-editors Jeanne Scherbert and Mary Hokanson. Besides rechecking all material before it was sent to the printer and engraver, they were responsible for divisional pages and the opening section.

Pilot Staff Toils Many Hours Throughout Year

The activities section of the Pilot contains pictures of all clubs and school sponsored extracurricular activities. Shown here are activities editors Lois Peterson, Diann Gast and Barbara Engle.

Besides planning, scheduling and supervising pictures of the various organizations, these girls must write copy regarding student life at Murray and record memorable events that have taken place during the year. Their's is the largest section with 33 pages.

Chris Schulstad, Joyce Johnson and Le Curtiss were chosen as class editors. Th job was to arrange a schedule for for homeroom pictures and then supervise th shots so that the schedule was met. They h to check each student's name for spelli Class editors were also responsible for taking of informal candid shots of classes session and of unusual happenings involv class participation. Their job calls for exc tional accuracy and precision.

The Pilot staff for the 1965 book s chosen in the spring of their ior year by Mr. John Lape, staff visor. They immediately began rk by choosing a theme and by awing page plans. After many nths of hard work, volume 26 of Pilot was complete and ready distribution among the students.

Kathy Weber, Betty Bauman and an Gallagher were responsible for senior section of the Pilot. They d to make sure that every senior's cture and a list of the activities he s participated in throughout high hool was included in their section.

o Gather And Record Happenings Of 1964-1965

Sports editors Kathy Stech, Terry Cutkomp and Paul Fardig attended most athletic events in order to record scores and other statistical data pertaining to the games. They must also take pictures of the team and candid shots of game action.

Besides being sports editor, Terry is also the artist for the yearbook and the Murcurie. Paul is the staff photographer. He can often be seen around school with his camera, taking candid pictures.

Pilot business manager Nancy Thompson is concerned with copy and pictures, yet her is extremely important to the welfare of book. She collected money and wrote eipts for each student that wished to pur- se an annual.

Elizabeth Torgerson was the advertising tor for the yearbook. She had to obtain from various businesses and nearby mer- nts. This increases student contact with the mmunity and is one of the most important rces of income for the Pilot.

Gathering news, writing stori and drawing page plans were ju a few of the jobs confronting t Murcurie staff. There were ni issues of the paper during the yea each containing news about futu and past events taking place Murray.

Murcurie Staff Gathers Information To Print News

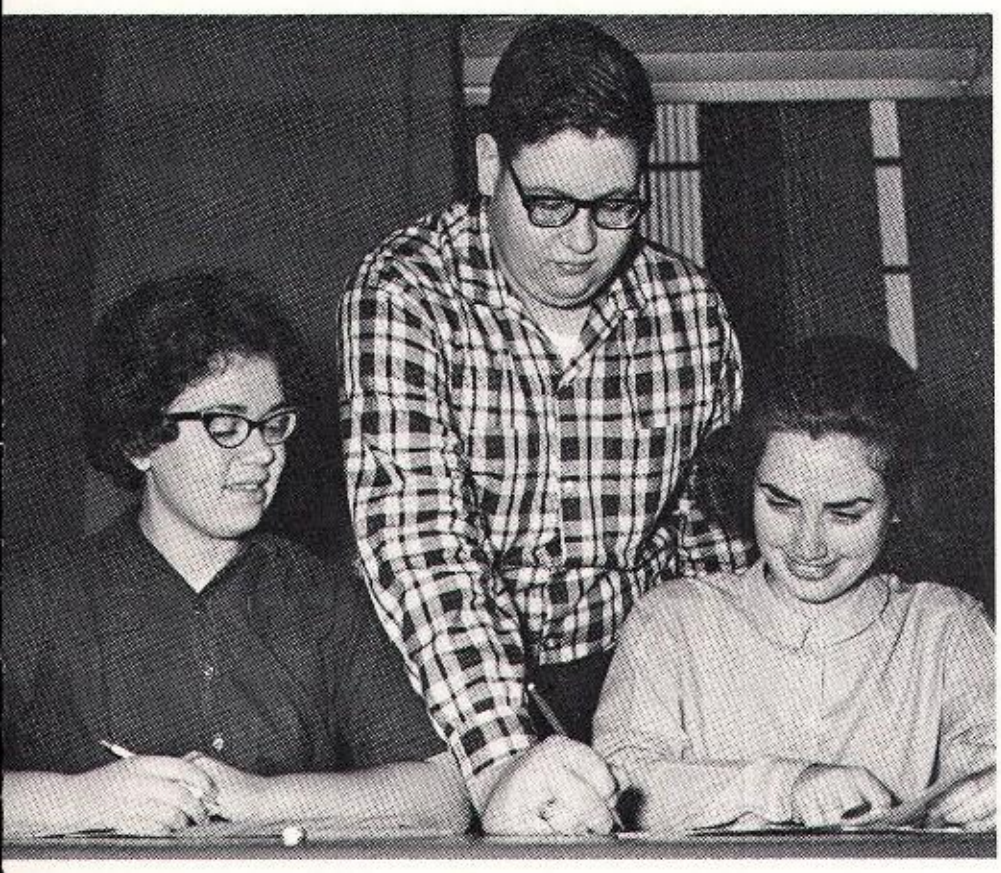
Nancy Sage and Myrna Grunwald held the positions page one editors of the Murcurie. They were responsible fo gathering all the important news that appeared on the fir page of the paper. This generally included the major schoo events and important happenings that had direct influence o the students and their life at Murray.

Sports editors for the Murcurie were Sandy Gilbert, Pat Nelson and Gretchen Halvorson. They are busy pasting up their page for the next deadline. Their job included attending and reporting on athletic events throughout the year. They interviewed coaches and team members to get reactions and predictions for the past, present and future athletic contests of the Pilots.

The Murcurie is a four page paper ith one page each for feature ories and sports, and two pages r news.

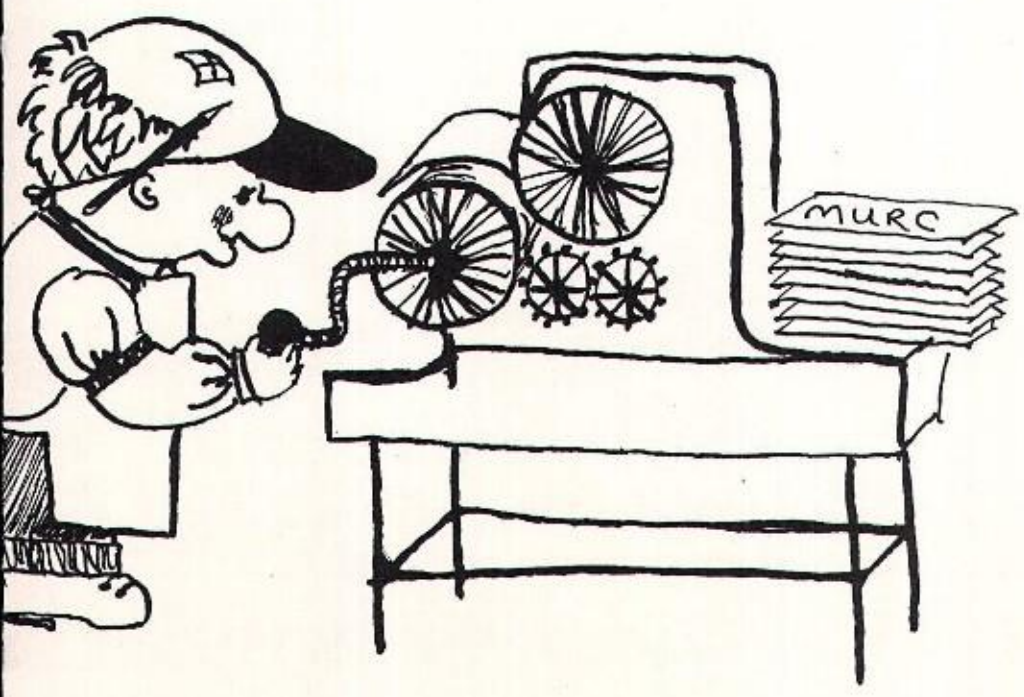
The staff consists of Journalism 2 udents selected by Mr. Lape, staff dvisor. They were chosen on the asis of interest and ability after ccessfully completing Journalism I.

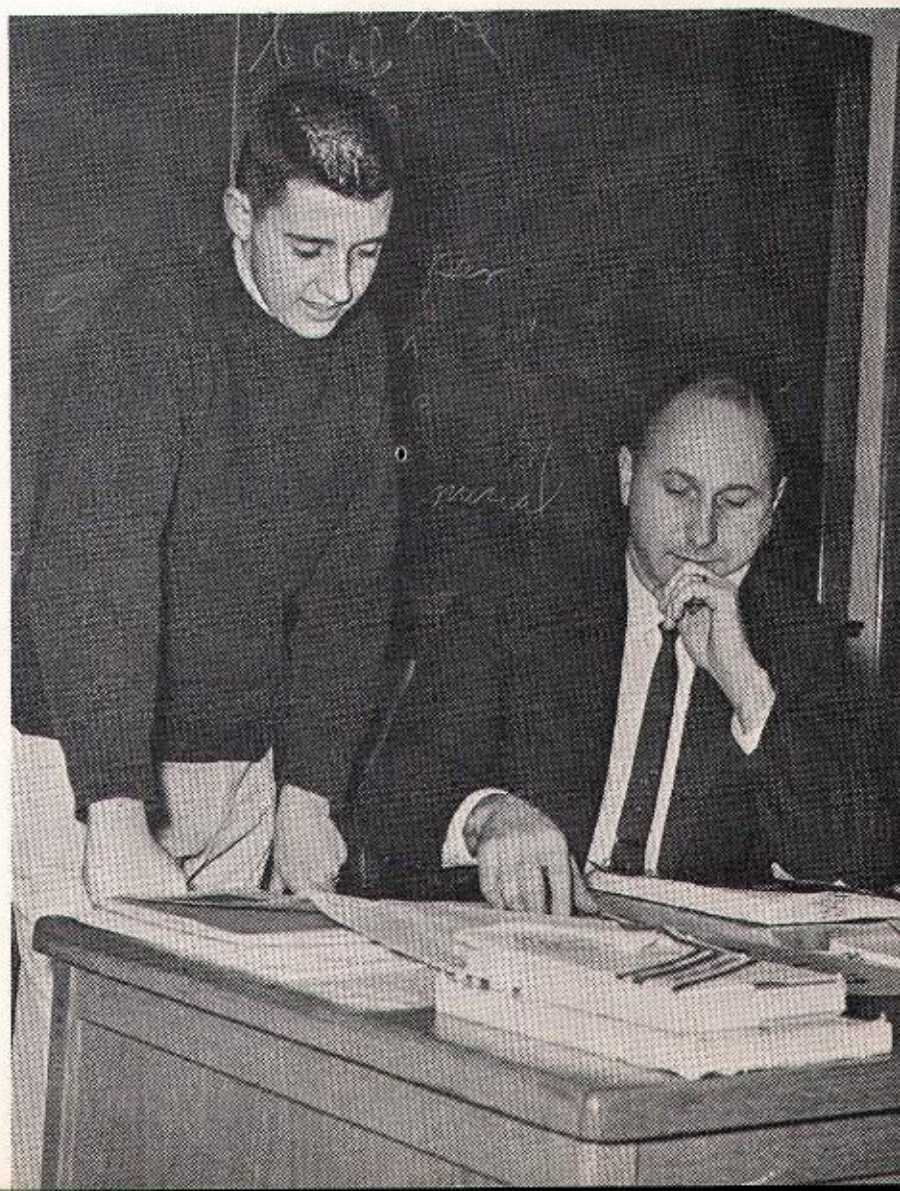
Chuckling over an addition to one f the humor columns on page three f the Murc are editors Sue Schroe- er, Bob Field and Sue Foster. Their age consisted of editorials, humor nd feature stories about Murray udents.



Meredith Razskazoff, Richard Larkin and Mary Nason were page three editors of the school paper. This page contains news stories not important enough to appear on page one, but yet important enough to be printed. Meredith was also the exchange editor for the Murc.

This year the Murcurie staff included editor-in-chief Hugh Coffman. Previously, the page one editors had also been co-editors of the entire paper. It was Hugh's job to see that all the stories met the deadline and to make sure that the staff work was operating smoothly and efficiently. He is shown here asking Mr. Lape about a problem.



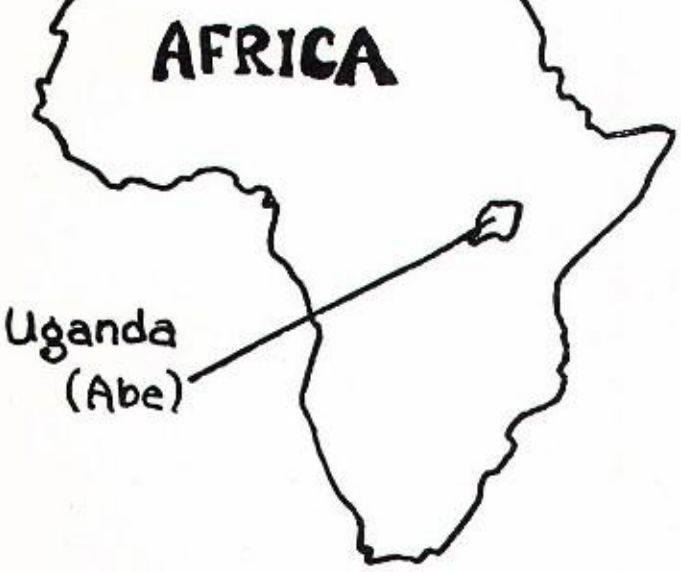


American Field Service Creates Unity Amid Nation

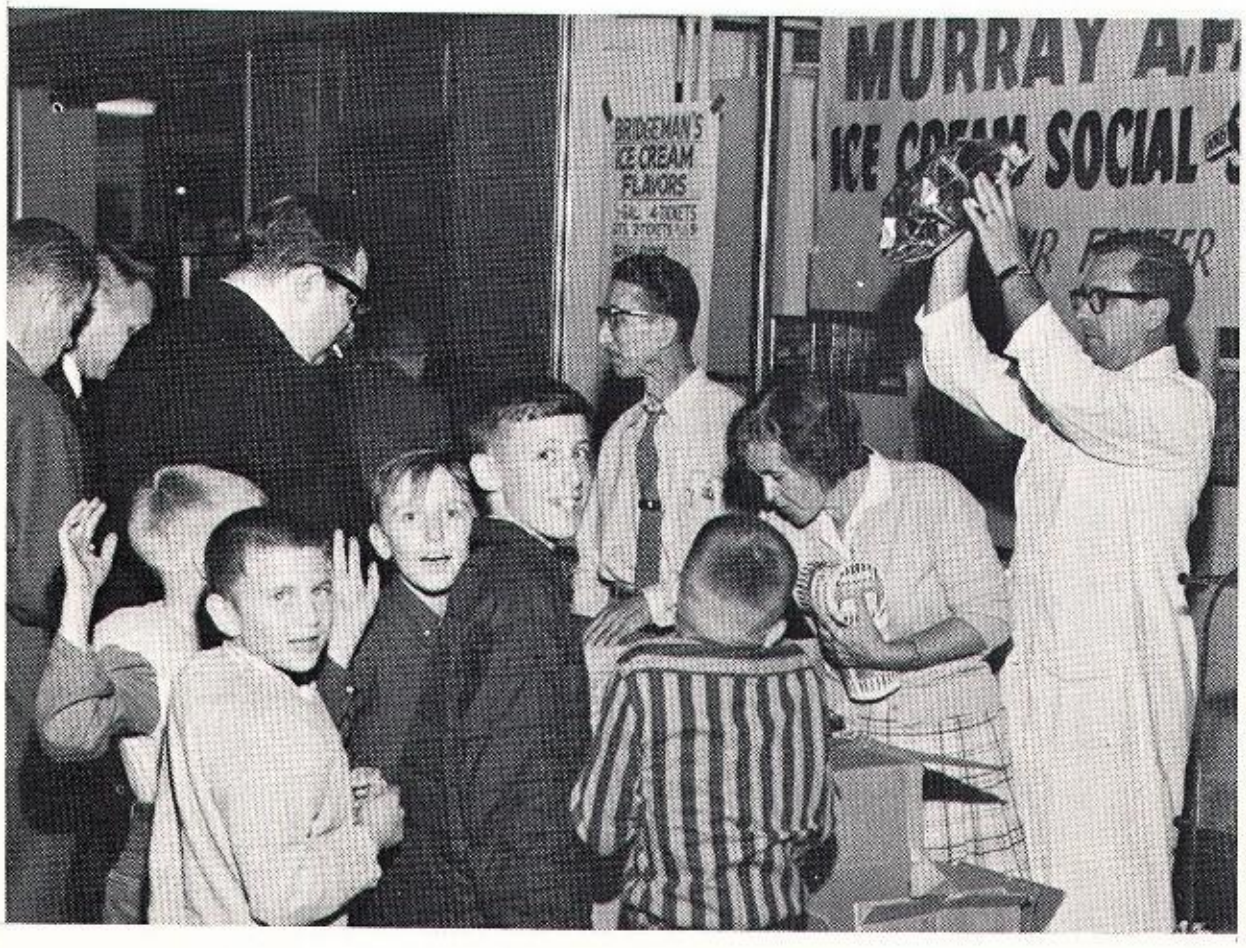
Our AFS student this year was Abraham Minawa from Kampala, the capital of Uganda, Africa.

Abe, as he is more commonly known, stayed with the Andrew Rogness family.

As a sports enthusiast, Abe participated in swimming and in track. His specialty in track was the pole vault.



Jim Wolf, Murray's AFS student who participated in the summer program, watches as John Arneman initiates Abe Minawa, our exchange student from Uganda, Africa, into Library Club. Judy Hallen, who was also initiated, looks on.



American Field Service, AFS, is an exchange program between countries by which high school students relate ideas and customs.

Murray supports two programs. One in which a student spends the summer abroad and the other whereby a student spends the entire school year in a foreign country.

Murray's representative for the 1963-64 summer program was Jim Wolf. Jim spent three months in the small agricultural village of Calumpit, Bulacan, located in the Philippines.

Everyone is rushing to buy ice cream at the AFS sponsored ice cream social. Proceeds were used to support Murray's AFS program.

Shown here are the 64-65 FTA officers, asurer Clarlynn Wach-, president Elise Hagen, e-president Leslie Cur-s and secretary Carol senthal. It is the offi-rs job to plan each eeting, contact speakers d see that each meet-g is run as smoothly possible.

Future Teachers of America is an organization which cquaints students with the teaching profession.

FTA is open to only juniors and seniors. Members is year were required to write an essay telling why they wanted to join FTA and what they thought should be done in the club.

At their monthly meetings, members listened to speakers, saw movies and drew up a constitution.

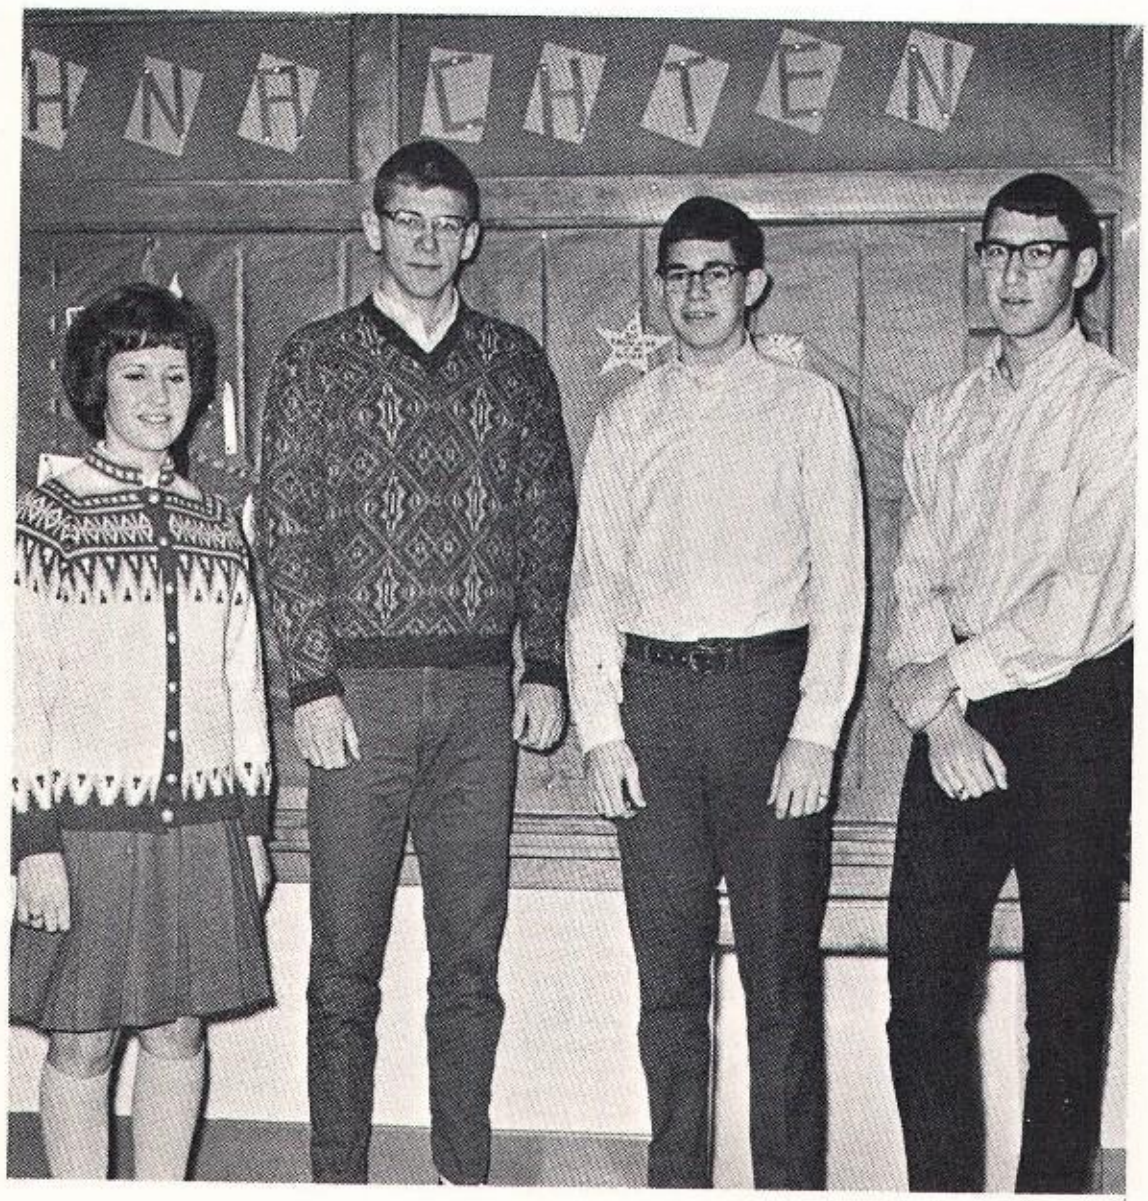
German Club Gives Students Chance To Learn



The German Club had approximately 80 members in 1965. It held monthly meetings with the purpose of learning more about Germany, its people and customs. In the fall the initiation meeting was the highlight. In the spring, the pancake breakfast was held where the future officers were announced.

Miss Karen Peterson, new to Murray's staff, advised the club during the year and helped the officers plan interesting and beneficial meetings.

The German Round Singers are a group of German students that performed at various programs throughout the year.

German Club officers Sandy Gilbert, program chairman; John Arneman, vice-president; Jim Wolf, president; and Kerry Stein, treasurer were kept busy throughout the year planning meetings that would interest the club members. They had to work together to keep the organization running smoothly.

In victory or defeat, the cheerleaders never lose their school spirit. It is this never-say-die quality in these girls that, reflected in the team, make every athletic event a contest not always easily won but never easil lost. Some of the cheerleaders also show their loyalt by working on the school spirit committee.

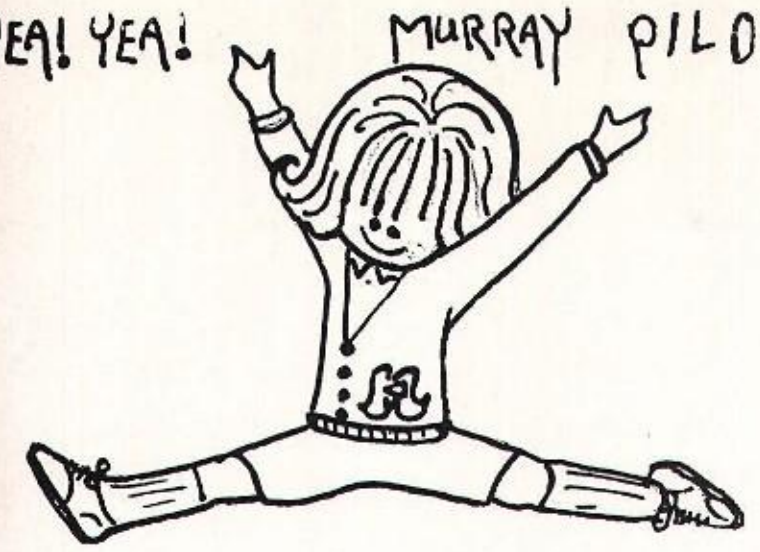
Cheerleaders Encourage Spirit, Victory For Teams

Promoting school spirit is the difficult but ver rewarding job of ten Murray girls. The chee leaders devote most of their spare time to th task of arousing the student body to full suppo of our athletic events.

The cheerleaders were chosen in the sprin on the basis of poise and cheerleading ability This year the squad was increased from seven t ten members. It consisted of four seniors an six juniors. The newly organized squad electe Judy Tenney and Chris Jensen as their co-cap tains. During the winter sports season the divided in half to form two separate squads wit five cheering at hockey games and five a basketball games.

The cheerleaders sponsored pep assemblie throughout the year. These always typifie school spirit at its peak as students joined i on the cheers and laughed at the entertainin skits.

Murray's 1964-65 A-squad cheerleader were Kathy Hartwick, Gretchen Halvorson, Bon nie Hassinger, Pam Roan, Judy Tenney, Jud Sontag, Leslie Curtiss, Chris Jenson, Katie Sulli van and Patty Thurow.



Although a relatively new group around Murray, he B-squad cheerleaders have quickly made their pep nd vitality felt at all B-squad athletic events. This is nly the second year that this group has been in exist- nce. They are chosen in the spring at the same time s the A-squad cheerleaders and must be in the eighth, inth or tenth grades to be eligible.

This year the girls chose Beverly Caldwell as their aptain. They spent the summer organizing their cheers nd planning their uniforms. They chose navy blue ber- nudas with matching vests and sweaters as their cheer- eading outfits.

Shown in pyramid position are Murray's B-squad heerleaders Janet Hartwick, Beverly Caldwell, Christel Nelson and Joan Heaton.

B-Squad Cheerleaders Add Vitality To Jr. Varsity

Shown here in one of their practices during the week are B-squad cheerleaders Christel Nelson, Janet Hartwick, Beverly Caldwell and Joan Heaton. Not only do the girls attend all B-squad athletic events but they must also constantly revise and improve their cheers.

Their job is very important to Murray's future athletics. By keeping up team spirit in the B-squad, the cheerleaders play an essential part in molding the quality of future A-squad team members.

Stage Force, Projection Crew Are Unseen Workers

The stage force and projection crew are kept busy throughout the year providing service to the school.

During the school months, the stage force prepares the stage for assemblies, adjusts the lights and microphones, and keeps the stage clean. The stage force advisor is Mr. Sorenson.

The projection crew's job is to see that all equipment is kept in running order for classroom use. They also order the films that are to be shown in the classrooms. Mr. Marengo is the advisor of the projection crew.

Two one-act plays were presented to the school in the fall. They were "The Happy Journey" and "The Still Alarm". They were produced by the Dramatic Club. Lynda Anderson, Paul Schubring, Sally Johnson and Jeanne Scherbert are shown at the left conversing in a burning hotel in "The Still Alarm."

Dramatic Department Provides Enjoyment For All

The dramatic department at Murray participated many activities in the past year.

Members of the club put on skits for assemblie helped with the senior class play, and also produce two one-act plays.

In the spring of 1964 the choir presented "The Kir and I" in conjunction with the dramatic department.

Class of '65 Presents 'Harvey'

"Harvey", a story about an imaginary six-foot white rabbit, was the selection chosen as the senior class play for 1965. Try-outs were held in January. Kerry Stein and Elizabeth Torgerson were chosen for the lead roles. Committees were formed for costumes, props and publicity, and the play was produced in February.

Sno'-Day A Success As Activities Reign Supreme

February 5 was the date chosen for Murray's 1965 winter playday, Sno'-Foolin'. Sno'-Foolin' is an annual event sponsored by the Student Council. Students purchased buttons which entitled them to take part in the events.

Sno'-Foolin' began in the morning at the coronation assembly as Cheryl Stelmach and Steve Johnson were chosen to reign over the days activities. A broomba game and skate races took place at Como Park durin the afternoon, and a junior high sock hop was held After a basketball game where Murray was victorious over Washington and a swim meet against Highlan that the Pilots also won, a senior high dance was held

The candidates were chosen by a vote taken in the senior homerooms. They were presented at an assembly and were voted on by the entire student body. The winning couple was crowned at an assembly held on Sno-foolin' day.

After losing 21-7 to Johnson, the Pilots smashed Washington 15-2. Scoring touchdowns were Ken Auld and Dave Hagen. The Pilots won their second victory over Highland 26-0. Dave Hagen scored 12 points, Jim McTie 8, and Ken Auld 6. The defeat over Harding moved the Pilots into a tie for first place.

'Stall the Injuns' was the Homecoming slogan and the gridders did just that. The Humboldt game ended in a 13-7 victory for the Pilots. Ken Auld scored both Murray touchdowns.

Murray washed over the Greenwave 13-0. Scoring againts Monroe were Ken Auld and Dean Nelson.

The season's thriller was the Mechanics' game. With the Pilots behind 26-27 and their defense shredded by the dazzling performances of Mechanics' Bill Price, the never-say-die Murray team staged a series of thrilling rallies ending with Dick Abraham's 82-yard Kick-off run with 58 seconds remaining. This brought the Pilots a 32-27 victory. Dave Hagen scored three touchdowns and Dick Abraham scored two.

The Pilots then found themselves facing the Minutemen who shared the lead with them. This heartbreaking game ended in a 14-0 loss as the team saw Central score two touchdowns in the last quarter Murray then retired to a third place with a 6-2 conference record.

Appointed to the All-City team were Greg Carlson, Dave Hagen, and captain Wally Gayman. Dave Hagen was the third highest scorer in the city with 48 points.

Greg Carlson tries to trip up Monroe quarterback Lenny Salstrom who barely gets a pass away above the outstretched arms of John Weber as Steve Johnson charges in.

Junior Gridders Learn Teamwork; Gain Experience

The Junior Varsity improved its record of last year by defeating Highland Park 19-13 and edging Monroe 7-6. One touchdown proved to be the margin of defeat as the Pilots lost to Mechanic Arts and Central by scores of 13-6. Murray was blanked by Harding and Humboldt as they scored 14 and 32 points respectively.

Avenging their narrow 1962 loss of the City title to Central, Murray's Cross Country team unseated them 37-40 to win the City and Regional championships. The meet found Marty Brandt leading in fourth place with Kent Cutkomp fifth; Tom Good sixth; Mickey Peterson ninth; Andy Rogness thirteenth; Dave Olson seventeenth and Roger Kwong nineteenth. The undefeated harriers, co-captained by Marty Brandt and Tom Good, made fine showings in the Swain Invitational Meet at Duluth where they placed eleventh, in the Nakomis Invitational Meet they placed third and in the State Meet where they placed twelfth.

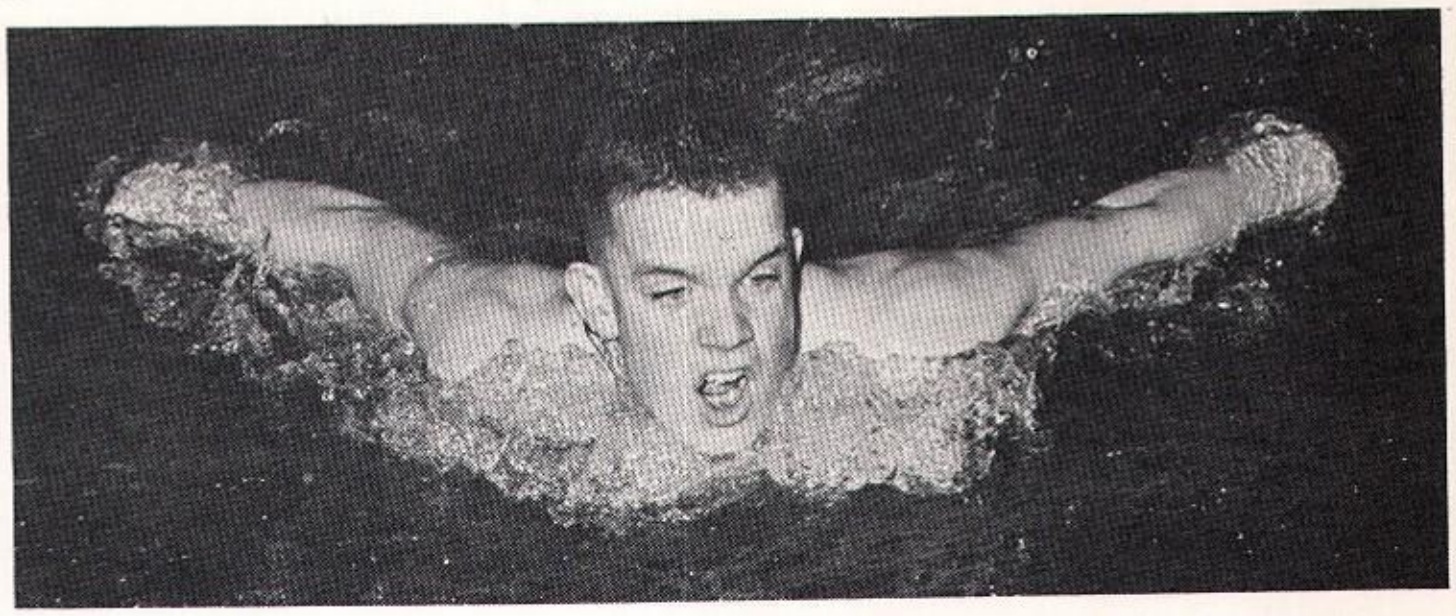
Coach Edward Porthan proudly watches his swimming team work out. Since the addition of the pool, the tankmen have steadily improved, both in individual and team performances.

Shown below, star tankman Ralph Peterson swims the butterfly. Ralph took two firsts in the state meet to pace Murray to tenth place. Denny Amrhien also placed in the state.

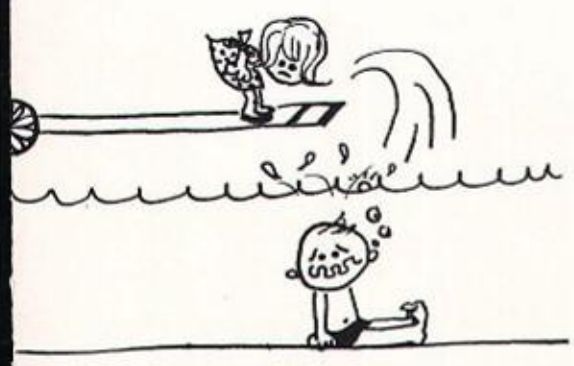


Below is the start of the 100-yard freestyle in the District 15 finals. Murray placed four men in this event, Len Leier (not shown), Denny Amrhien (lane 3), Mike Loeffler (lane 5), and Ed Piermantier (lane 6).

Murray's surfers repeated as conference champs, posting an 8-0 record.

In the District 15 finals, Murray won with a total of 105½ points, more than double that of their nearest opponent, Highland. Ralph Peterson and Denny Amrhien were each double winners in individual events. Ralph set district records in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events while Denny set a record in the 50-yard free style and won the 100, missing a record by .1 second. Co-captain Paul Fardig took the 100-yard backstroke and both relay teams placed first.

Murray edged Roosevelt 48-47 in the thrilling Twin City meet which was not decided until the last relay. In the state meet, Ralph Peterson was the only double winner, taking laurels in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races.



Jubilant team members lend a hand in the traditional dunking of swimming coach Edward Porthan. Murray won the District meet.

The Murray netmen, coached by Bernie Broderick, captured second place, even though captain Lea Lippert, Steve Bergmann, Larry Melander and Dick Lippert were the only hold-overs from last year's team.

In the first two encounters the inexperienced Pilots were defeated by White Bear 5-0 and Central 3-2. The following matches showed the effect of hard work and determination as the team downed Humboldt and Harding 4-1, defeated Wilson 3-2 and blanked Washington, Centennial, Monroe, Johnson and Mechanic Arts 5-0.

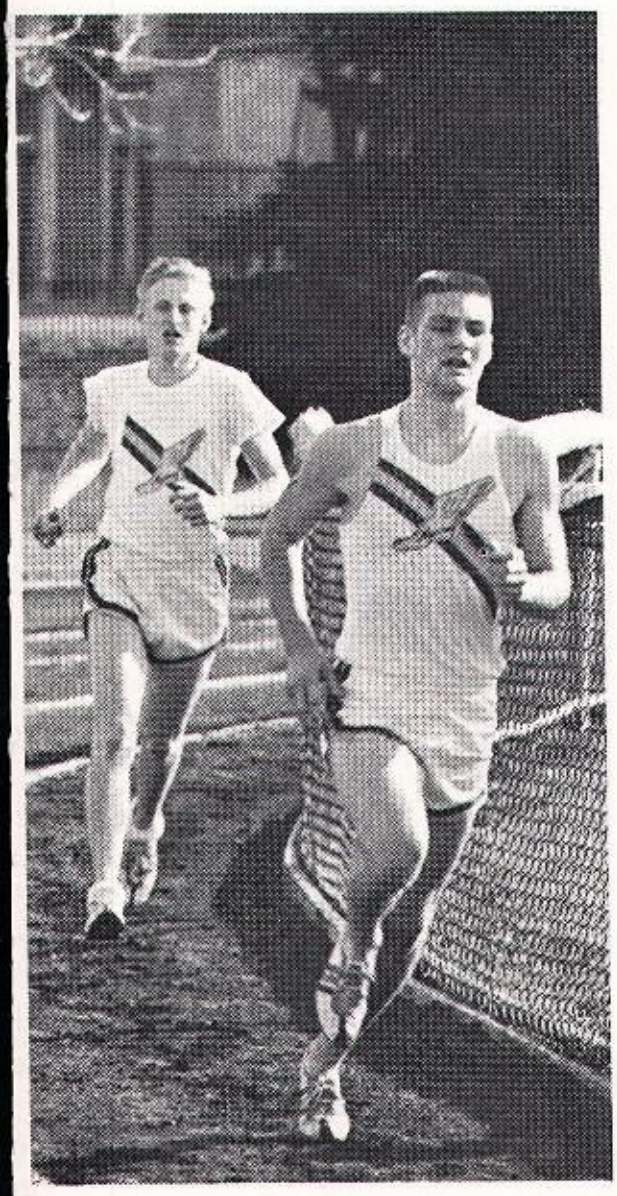
Cindermen Excel In Running Events; Break Records



Milers Tom Good and Keith Willman hug the rail in the M.A. meet. They placed first and third respectively.

Defeating Wilson and Johnson after losing their first two meets, Murray's Cindermen finished with an even record. Winning all but three running events, the Pilots were defeated by the overall abilities of Mechanic Arts. Lack of strength in the field events proved to be the team's main weakness all season. Central, defending city champion, defeated Murray in their second meet.

The team made one of its best showings in the Carlton Relays, finishing fourth in a field of eighteen teams. Senior Pat Broderick took first in the half mile while senior Elwood Enerson won the 120-yard high hurdles.

Defeat Mechanics, Wilson, Johnson In Conference

Severely handicapped by lack of experience, Murray posted a 3-5 conference record. In non-conference action, the Pilots gained two victories while absorbing five defeats.

Co-captained by lone senior Ken Caldwell and junior Dave Olson, the team displayed sound pitching and hard hitting. Highlighting the season was Ed Merrill's no-hit, no-run game against Wilson, won by the Pilots 5-0. Ken Caldwell and Vince Azure also exhibited fine pitching performances.

Throughout the season, Murray powered 7 homers, triples and 15 doubles. Murray's first batter of the season, Vince Azure, blasted a homerun to start a rally which led to six runs.

Senior Ken Caldwell hits the dirt as he successfully steals second base while Harding's second baseman leaps vainly for a wild throw from the catcher. Although losing 9-8, Murray scored in every inning, except the first, and ended the game with men on second and third bases.

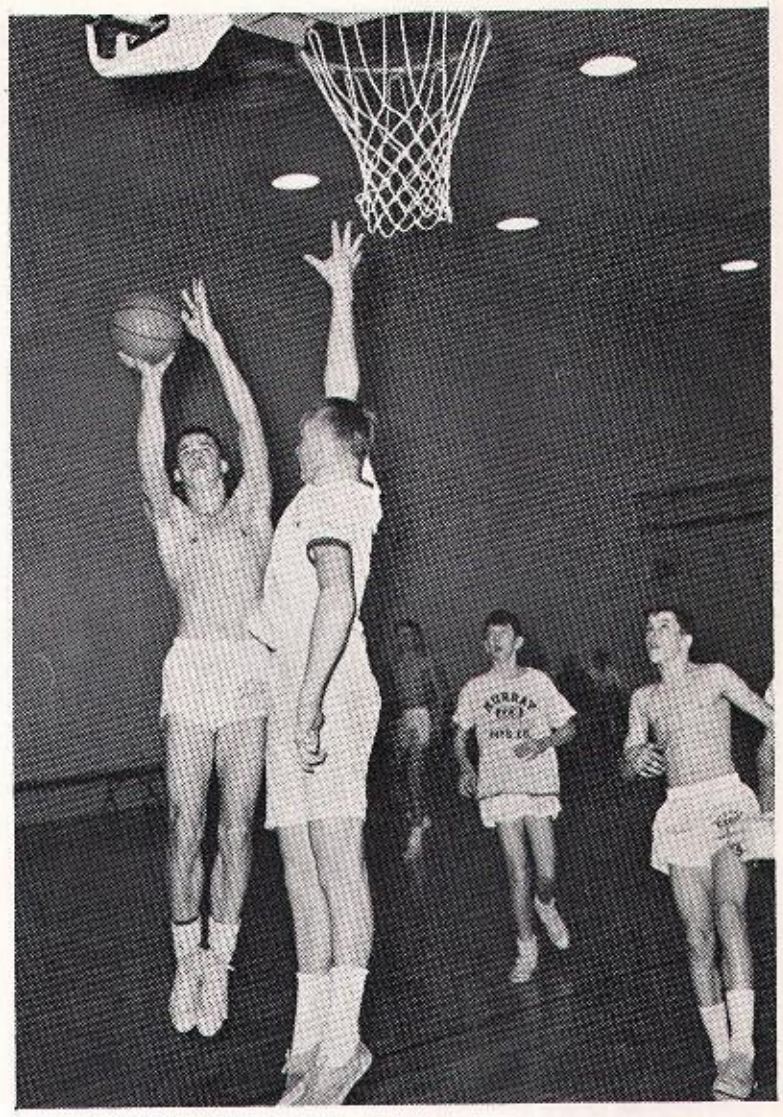
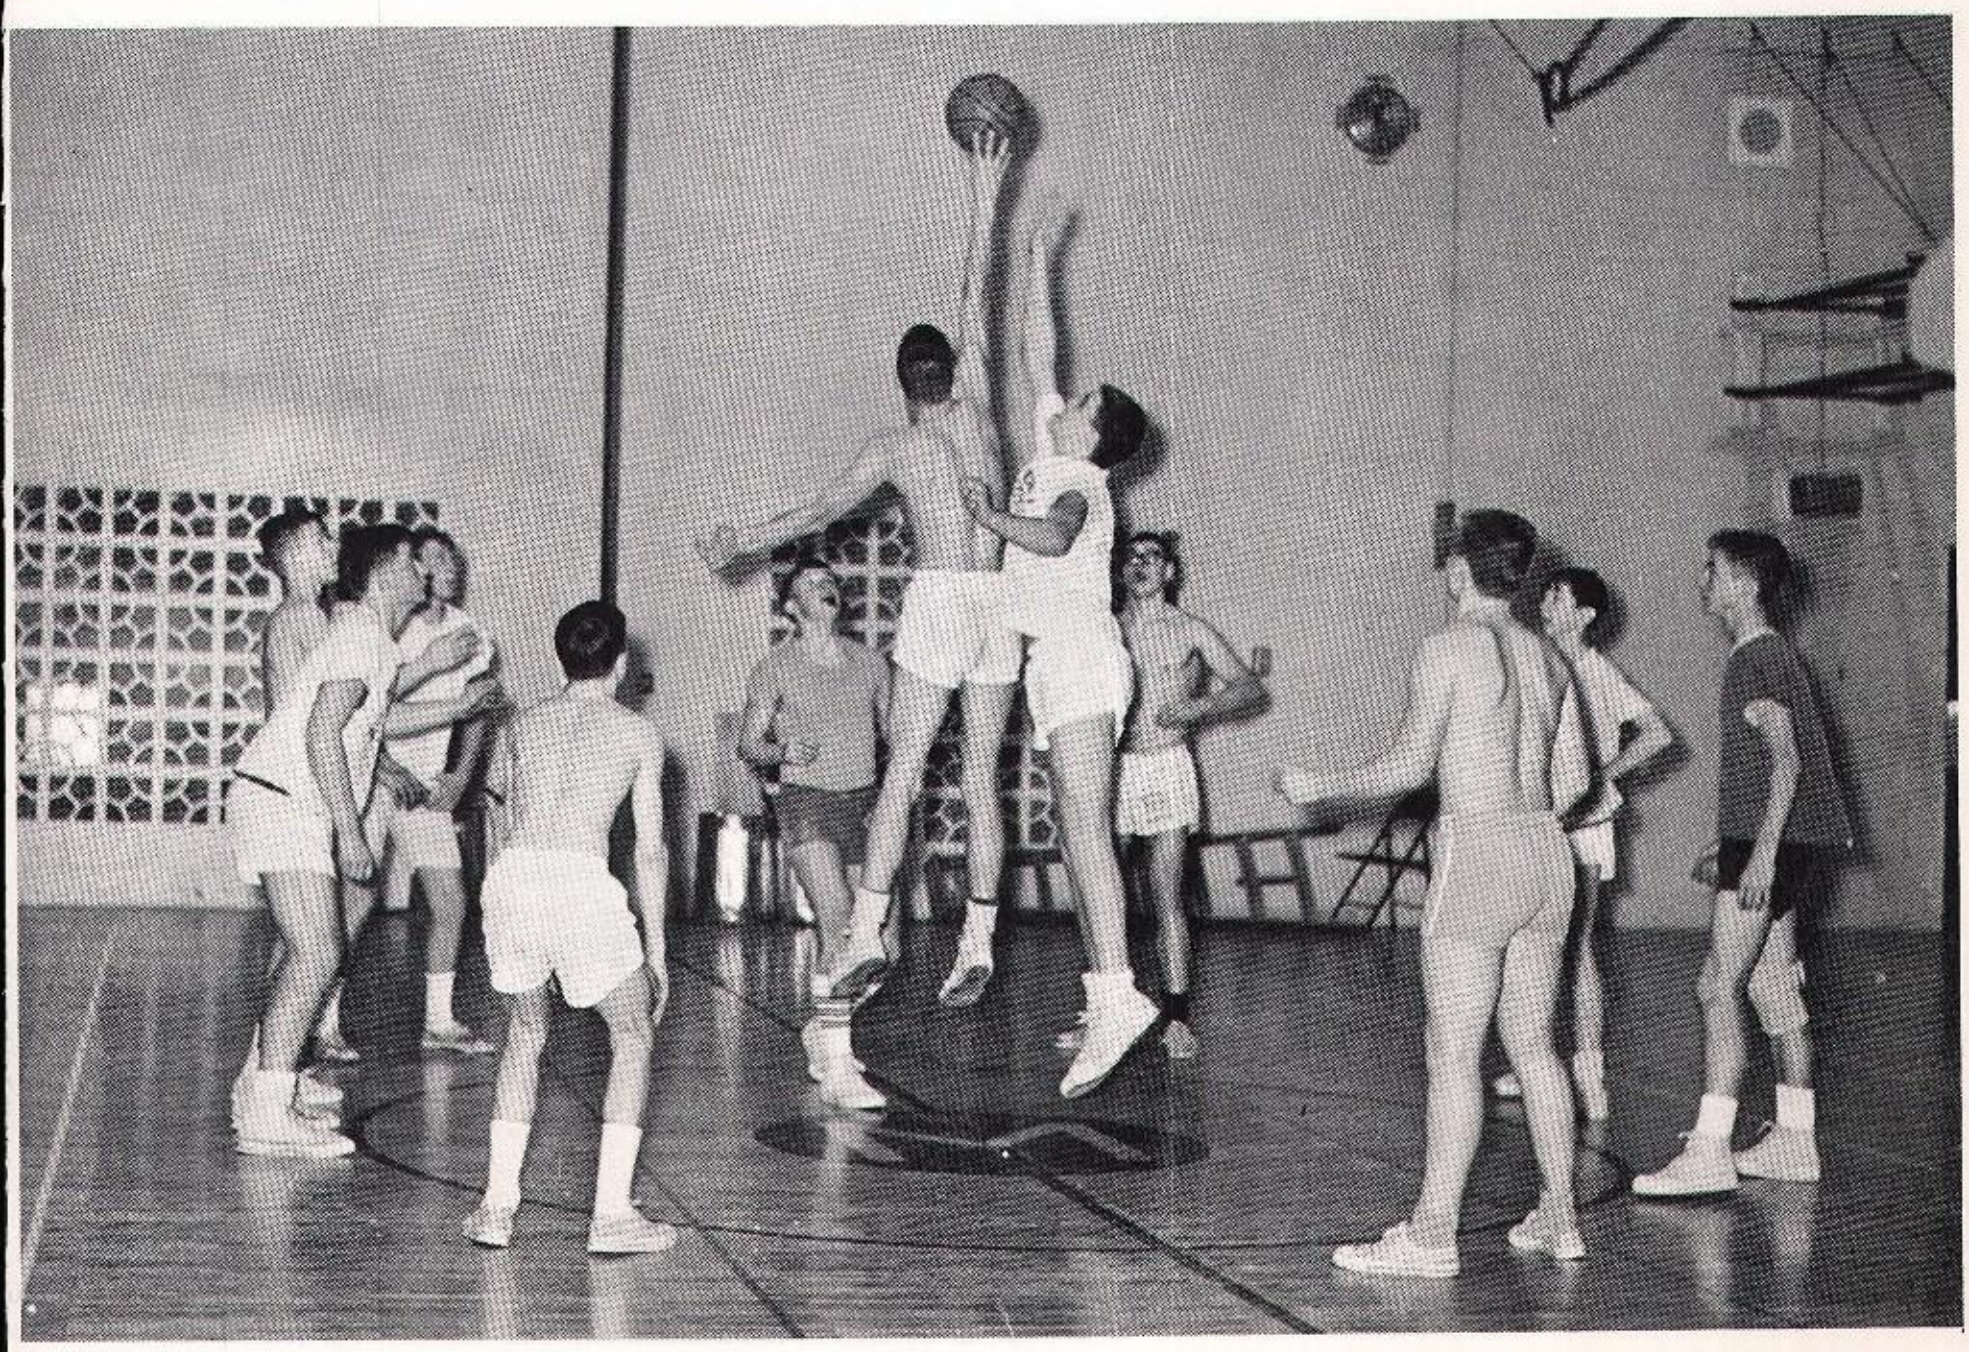
Intramural Sports Provide Competition, Fun For All



Providing fun and competition is the purpose of Murray's intramural program. It gives younger boys a chance to learn the fundamentals of sports and provides the opportunity for older boys to play for the fun of it.

Basketball, as shown on this page, is one of the most popular intramural activities, along with swimming. Mr. Rose heads the basketball games and Mr. Porthan is in charge of swimming.



GAA Helps Build Alert Minds And Strong Bodies;

This year's Girls Athletic Association officers are from left to right: Mary McDiarmid, recording secretary; Jeanne Scherbert, vice-president; Terry Cutkomp, secretary; Meredy Razskazoff, treasurer; and Nancy Sage, president. They are voted on by all GAA members in the spring. These girls work with the sportheads and Mrs. Janet Shields, advisor, to make sure everything runs smoothly throughout the year.

GAA letters are given to girls who have acquired 1000 points. After a girl has earned 1500 points she is entitled to her all-city award. In the spring all girls having earned letters are honored at the annual GAA assembly. Trophies are given to champion bowlers.

Row 3: Gloria Sutton, archery; Sue Razskazoff, tennis; Liz Hebbel, winter sports; Daphni Mantis, soccer.

As sportheads, these girls have many responsibilities such as encouraging GAA members to come out for their sport, organizing schedules, taking care of equipment, taking attendance and taking charge of homecoming activities.

Above, several girls join in a game of basketball, one of the most popular sports among the girls.

Navy, burgundy, & madras.
The night you studied so hard for a test and then found out the next day that there was an assembly that hour!
Finally mastering the wail; then finding it was "Out."
Discovering that all those "huge" decorations didn't look so huge in the new gym.
Arriving at a Murray dance and finding that you had forgotten your sunglasses.

In Appreciation

The 1965 Pilot staff expresses sincere thanks to:

Mr. John Lape, our advisor, who helped us through our deadlines and many problems

A. J. Dahl Company, yearbook covers

Mr. O. L. Mjos

Mr. Lance Johnson

Bayport Printing House

Mr. Donald Swisher

Brown Engravers, Inc.

Mr. Carroll Brown

Bacheller-Stalvig Photography

Mr. Kenneth Bacheller

Mr. Murlyn Stalvig

Our Patrons

The administration and the faculty for their cooperation in Pilot projects

The students of Murray for their encouragement and support throughout the year

A very special thanks goes to Paul Fardig, our photographer, for his patience with us. He has captured the true moods of Murray through his excellent photography.
